Davies Welcomes New Employment Partner Seann McAleese

We are pleased to welcome Seann McAleese as a partner in our Pensions, Employment & Executive Compensation practice.

Seann brings a wealth of knowledge and experience to the firm, having advised clients in both the public and private sectors on all aspects of employment law for more than two decades. Based in the Toronto office, Seann will work with the Pensions, Employment & Executive Compensation team and collaborate across practices to provide strategic guidance on advisory and compliance matters and the employment aspects arising from complex commercial transactions.

Seann's addition to the firm reflects our commitment to providing comprehensive solutions for our clients' evolving needs. His specialized expertise and fluency in the regulatory environment will strengthen our ability to help clients navigate this dynamic area of law.
