

Eager to engage with stimulating, complex and cutting-edge transactions, Caleb will use his problem-solving skills to provide exceptional client service.

Caleb aspires to build a career in a broad corporate practice, specifically M&A and capital markets. He looks forward to making a meaningful impact in both the technical and personal aspects of the law.

Caleb was awarded the Albert E. Wadham Award at Toronto Metropolitan University.

Caleb Szakacs

2025 Second-Year Summer Class

Toronto

416.863.0900

cszakacs@dwpv.com

Law School

Queen's University

Why did you choose to work with Davies?

I was initially drawn to Davies by its reputation for high-quality work and exceptional lawyers, which made it stand out as a leader in the industry. What truly convinced me, however, was meeting the people and experiencing firsthand how kind, genuine and professional everyone is, creating an environment where I could see myself thriving.

If you were not a lawyer, what career would you have chosen?

If I weren't a lawyer, I would be a sports journalist because I enjoy researching, analyzing and writing. Interviewing athletes and sharing their perspectives would have combined my passion for storytelling with my love for sports.

Is there an organization that means a lot to you?

Meals on Wheels. This organization means a lot to me because it not only provides essential meals to vulnerable groups like the elderly and disabled but also offers a chance to connect with these communities and help brighten their day. I have spent over a year at Meals on Wheels as a volunteer meal runner.