Davies Lawyers Author Bloomberg Tax Article on Canada's Digital Services Tax

Nathan Boidman, Michael Kande and Ian Caines have co-authored an article for Bloomberg Tax about the controversy between Canada and the United States over Canada's proposed digital services tax (DST).

The Canadian government first proposed the DST in 2020, calling for a 3% tax on certain digital revenues from large businesses. The controversy has come to a head with bill C-59, draft legislation introduced in late November to enact the tax.
