Elias provides clients with business-minded advice on commercial real estate acquisitions, joint ventures, developments and financings as well as construction and leasing.

For more than 30 years, Elias has worked on many of Québec's largest real estate transactions, advising private and institutional real estate owners and developers, as well as major retailers. Highly regarded for his problem-solving abilities, Elias works on complex real estate acquisitions, developments and joint ventures. Borrowers and lenders also trust his legal and business acumen to guide their syndicated lending transactions and their construction and mortgage lending.

Elias is chair of the Montréal office's Opinion Committee for commercial law. He volunteers with several contemporary art organizations in Montréal, including Phi Foundation for Contemporary Art and Phi Centre.
